

Passionate about Math Education?

Join Us for the Annual AMTNJ Winter Conference

“Fostering Growth Mindsets in Every Math Classroom:
Creating Productive Learning Environments”

The Conference Keynote speaker:

Dan Meyer

Dan Meyer taught high school math to students who didn't like high school math. He has advocated for better math instruction on CNN, Good Morning America, Everyday With Rachael Ray, and TED.com. He earned his doctorate from Stanford University in math education and is the Chief Academic Officer at Desmos where he explores the future of math textbooks. He speaks internationally and was named one of Tech & Learning's 30 Leaders of the Future.
